

Gary Truce's
Recommendation For Mike Bonventre

I am writing this recommendation for Mr. Mike Bonventre, a man I have known for approximately twenty years. Mike and I had met initially when he was giving lectures and having meetings on how to clean up neighborhoods of drug dealers. I was intrigued with his information and passion pertaining to the problem. I was also intrigued on how well versed he was on the various drugs and their effects on people and our society as a whole. Then I learned that he ran a drug testing business to detect various drugs that may be in a person's body.

I am a professor at Binghamton University in our Health and Wellness Studies Department which is a part of the Decker School of Nursing. I teach courses in Psychophysiology, as well as a course entitled Health, Human Behavior, and Society. I have had Mike come into my classes every semester for several years to present his vast amount of knowledge on everything from drugs, crime, human behavior, health, politics, and searching for truth in the world. His lectures have been received extremely well by the college students—they have been spellbound by his information and presentation style.

Each semester I have asked the students to rank the top three presentations or topics that were studied during the semester. And Mike Bonventre's presentations have always ranked in the top three with the majority of the students in my classes. I feel Mike is a valuable asset to the students and non-students who have had the opportunity to hear him speak, as well as to the members of our communities who Mike has served with his professional work and his town meetings with people.

Mike Bonventre is an excellent human being who is a true educator and gentleman. He has his heart in the right place; and that is to serve others in a highly moral and ethical manner, and to open their eyes as to what is happening in the world around them. I am happy to recommend Mike Bonventre for any speaking engagement or consultation.

Sincerely

Gary Truce
